Well Link Life Offers Free COVID-19 Protection to Support Taxi Drivers in Hong Kong Fulfil corporate social responsibility by providing coverage for taxi drivers

3 December 2020. Hong Kong. Well Link Life Insurance Company Limited (“Well Link Life”) today announced the launch of free COVID-19 Protection for all taxi drivers in Hong Kong. The benefit provides registered taxi drivers with cash benefit in the unfortunate event that they are under treatment of COVID-19 so as to protect their livelihood.

Mr. Thomas Lee, Chief Executive Officer of Well Link Life said, “Well Link Life has always been committed to our core corporate values of caring for the community and we strive to provide people with the hope they need to survive this challenging time. Our latest corporate social responsibility initiative for taxi drivers demonstrates Well Link’s enterprising spirit to serve as a bridge for people to cross from difficult times to better well-being. The pandemic has rebounded in Hong Kong recently, as the number of confirmed COVID-19 cases has risen sharply. Taxi drivers come in contact with numerous people every day. They put themselves at risk by providing people in Hong Kong with an essential service. We understand they may worry about losing their source of income if they are unfortunately diagnosed with COVID-19. The free COVID-19 Protection we are launching today will provide taxi drivers with cash benefit up to HK$12,000 during treatment of COVID-19 to ease their financial burden so that they can focus on recuperation and recovery without worrying about livelihood.”

Starting from 7 December 2020, all taxi drivers with valid taxi driver identity plates can visit www.wli.com.hk or call 28307573 to register the COVID-19 Protection.
